Letter from the executives

The Canadian Undergraduate Physics Conference stands out as the largest undergraduate physics conference in all North America, drawing over 250 students each year. It is also entirely organized and run by undergraduate students, from the planning and scheduling right down to the execution.

This fall, the University of Guelph is excited to be hosting the 58th annual CUPC. We look forward to providing a space where passionate members of the Canadian physics community can gather and share their contributions to this field.

Your sponsorship is an essential part of helping make our goal a reality. Your donation will help cover costs for accommodations, event spaces, and reducing travel costs for students.

Thank you very much for your support,
